The thought of “managing” the time we use to serve God and others with seems unspiritual to many. But is it? Let’s find out.

I. Mark 6:30. What’s the backdrop (i.e. context) to this verse?

II. Mark 6:31. What does Jesus say to the disciples on their return?

From this we learn a couple truths about ministry:

- Ministry is _____ work.
- Doing ministry requires _____.

III. So knowing these truths, what are we supposed to do? How do we find the right balance?

A. What did I find when I first came to my Connecticut church?

B. So what did the church leadership start to wrestle with?

IV. Our answer was something we called the FULL Christian Inventory.

Notes about this tool as we talk about it:

Here’s our FULL Member covenant:

If you join the Bridgeway family, and call this your church home, we ask you and expect you to find at least _____ place where you are involved in _____ of the three areas.

V. Why is this tool such a helpful resource?

Knowing that God asks me to be a FULL member gives me:

D_____ for ministry.

P_____ for ministry.

B_____ and B_____ for ministry.
